THE STORM RAGED.

New York and Vicinity Experience a Genuine Tornado.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The storm of rain and wind is the most severe that has visited this vicinity for many months, and although the velocity of the wind has moderated some the rain continues and the sky shows no signs of clearing.

At times the wind blew at the rate of 72 miles an hour, and nothing like its wild sweep up Broadway and through the long avenues has been seen in this city for years.

At Rockaway the wind blew at the rate of 80 miles an hour. Considerable damage was done at the beach by the heavy sea which was on. Boats were torn from their moorings and carried away.

At Middletown, N. Y., the storm caused a washout on the Pine Bush branch of the Erie railroad and a passenger train en route to this city ran down the embankment. The passengers escaped without serious injury.

At New York, the storm inundated the business portion of the place, causing several thousands of dollars damage. Stores and houses were flooded and their contents ruined.

In Connecticut the storm was terrific. At Waterbury the water inundated the principal streets of the city, flooded business houses, washed out roadways and caused damage of from $40,000 to $50,000.

Rutland, Vt., reports the severest storm of wind and rain has prevailed in that section all day. Chimneys and roofs have been blown to the ground and a house on Terrell street was carried off its foundations.

A DEMON CAUGHT.

Scott Jackson Beheaded Pearl Bryan at Fort Thomas.

CONFESSIONS HAVE BEEN MADE.

His Roommate, Walling, Says Jackson Explained to Him How He Was Going to Kill the Girl, and the Details Were Carried Out—Wood Says He Was Never in Cincinnati and Was Released.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 7.—Scott Jackson and his roommate, Alonzo M. Walling, admit that they murdered and beheaded Pearl Bryan, but each charges the actual commission of the crime to the other. Circumstances, however, indicate that Jackson was the real butcher.

The poor girl's head was carried around in her own satchel by Jackson, who finally threw the head into a sewer but kept the bloodstained satchel, which is now in the hands of the police. He says he threw the girl's clothing into the river.

A pair of pants bespattered with blood have been found in Jackson's room and he admits they are his, but says he had not seen them for a long time.

Walling made a statement at midnight declaring that Jackson had told him all about what he intended to do with Miss Bryan. He had three plans to kill her, one of which he carried out. Jackson heard the statement and denied it all. The men called each other liars and tried to get to each other. Lynching is feared.

William Wood arrived last night and said it was the first time he was ever in Ohio. He said the girl was related to him and he took an interest in her for that reason. He says Jackson seduced Miss Bryan. Wood was released on his own recognizance.

Has Been In Trouble Before.

JERSEY CITY, Feb. 7.—The Scott Jackson who is under arrest in Cincinnati on suspicion of the murder of Miss Pearl Bryan, is the young man who turned state's evidence against his accomplice, Alexander Letts, who is serving a term of years in state's prison for a robbery of $25,000 from the Pennsylvania Railroad company. Letts was an assistant auditor. He and Jackson assisted a saloon with the stolen money and gambled on horse races.

FAVOR RECOGNITION.

Congress Desires to See Cuban War Fought on an Equal Footing.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The Cuban revolution has such warm friends among the members of the house foreign affairs committee that notwithstanding the fact that the state department has not yet furnished the documentary information requested by resolution of the house, there was a determined effort made to persuade the committee to follow the lead of the senate committee and recommend recognition of the insurgents.

This movement was led by Messrs. Pearson (Rep., S. C.) and Smith (Rep., Mich.), seconded by other members while Mr. Adams (Rep., Pa.) chairman of the subcommittee on Cuba, endeavored to discourage it. The committee will soon decide upon its course, however, for Chairman Hitt made the announcement that the state department had completed the work of copying its records relating to Cuba, and that as soon as they were received, which will be within a few days, a special meeting will be called to consider them.

Caused a Sensation Among the Deans.

MADRID, Feb. 7.—The resolution on the belligerency of the Cuban insurgents of the United States senate committee on foreign relations has created a great sensation in Spain.

The Epoca says of it: "President Cleveland surely cannot forget that traditions of American policy. The Confederates (during the late war) were not recognized as belligerents nor the Cuban insurgents in their last war."

The Herald is indignant and advises the government to send an ironclad squadron to Cuba. The Correo says the attitude of the senate is offensive and arbitrary.

Governor Matthews was unanimously endorsed for president, and his course on the appointment imbroglio was also endorsed.

The following officers were elected: President, F. D. Hainbungh, Municipal Secretary, J. C. Gorman, Princeton; corresponding secretary, B. F. McKee, Lebanon; treasurer, Peter Wallrath, Logansport.

VICIOUS ASSAULT

Made on the Bill Raising the Age of Consent to 18.

THIS WAS WHOLLY UNEXPECTED.

Some of the Opposition Came From Men Who, It Was Thought, Would Heartily Favor It—Further Consideration Was Postponed to Next Week to Give Members a Chance to Consult Their Wives.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 7.—When the bill to raise the age of consent to 18 years came up in the senate it was bitterly opposed by some members who, it was thought, would favor it. So vicious was the attack that further consideration was postponed till Tuesday, so as to give the opponents a chance to consult their wives, as one member expressed it.

In the Senate.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 7.—The following bills were passed in the senate: House bill, Mr. Moore, providing that lack of knowledge shall be no defense in illegal sales of oleomargarine by hotels and restaurants; Mr. Shroyer, authorizing boards of education to refund bonds; Mr. Shroyer, providing that insurance companies shall not place per cent clauses in policies, whereby, in certain cases, the insured shall bear part of the insurance.

In the House.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 7.—Bills were passed in the house as follows: Mr. Stanley, amending section 4741 so as to require civil government to be taught in the common schools; Mr. Hard, providing that pupils may be admitted to the institution for deaf and dumb at the age of 7 years and allow the most prompt relief to remain 12 years.

Mr. McBride, amending section 4330 so as to empower assignees to sell notes received for property assigned the same as administrators. Mr. Sullivan, appropriating $100 for the insular expenses.

Charged With Bigamy.

It is alleged that in 1892 he married Margaret J. Robinson in Cleveland and in 1895 he married at Elyria, O., H. Louise Constock, also of this city. He tried to obtain a divorce from his first wife but failed.

He left the court for awhile and returned, stating that her name was Martha A. Perkins. The license was issued.

AMBASSADOR BAYARD TALKS.

Declares He Is England's Friend, Although Not an Englishman. LONDON, Feb. 7.—At the annual dinner of the St. John's foundation school at the Hotel Metropole the guests included members of the clergy, diplomats, members of parliament and other public men. The United States ambassador, Mr. Bayard, presided. In proposing a toast to the queen Mr. Bayard was greeted with tumultuous applause. He said: "I am not a citizen of this country but I am a friend of it. [Cheers.] The hearts of the lovers of England were lately stirred to consider the sources of her strength, and the common patriotic idea naturally turned to her great armies and navies and the stout hearts and earnest conscience of her people."

Mr. Bayard ventured to remind them of the noiseless but eventful forces which, by making England strong, should make her own country strong. He meant those fountains of moral force found in quiet homesteads which were the true basis of the world's advancement. He proceeded to enlarge the work of the clergy as the class which furnished a large share of the distinguished men of the country, a notable example being Nelson. This speech was received with great applause.

"I am gratified that I am admitted to the personal sympathy of the English people," [Loud and prolonged applause.] Mr. Bayard continued that when he recognized the community of sentiment of the two countries he felt that when he crossed the Atlantic it was merely a change of faces and not of the hearts. Yet there were those who pretended that there was something different between the aspirations of honest men here and in America. He refused to believe it; he had spent his life in America, and he came from a people who had drawn nothing but American air and doctrine for two centuries, and a half. He came here and found and breathed the same air.

"If any difference exists," said Mr. Bayard, "it is an artificial one. Just let human hearts speak man to man, ear to ear, and you find all differences can be arranged." [Loud cheers.] INTO THE ICE WATER. Six Men Lost Their Lives by a Bridge Giving Way.

HARTFORD, Feb. 7.—Six workmen lost their lives and nine others were barely rescued from the icy waters of the Pequabee river near Bristol. A new bridge had been built over the river carrying the tracks of the New England railroad and the men were at work taking up the ties and rails from the old bridge which was in progress of demolition.

The 15 workmen had gathered about the middle of the bridge in their work, when suddenly the structure began to shake, and with scarcely a moment's warning gave way. The men were all precipitated into the icy water below in the midst of the broken mass of timbers. Two or three managed to reach land in safety practically unhurt, and immediately set to work to help their comrades. Up to 11 o'clock nine men of the 15 had either escaped or been rescued alive. The body of one man had been recovered and five are still missing.

MODERN METHODS FAVORED.

The Time Seemed Ripe, and the Small Boy Gained His Point. The boy had been deep in thought for several minutes. "Father," he said at last, "it's wrong to fight, isn't it?" "Yes, my son," replied the father, pleased to see that his lessons on that subject had not been wasted.

"It's wrong to try to settle disputed points by resorting to force, isn't it?" continued the boy. "It is indeed," returned the father. "The whole tendency of modern civilization is to do away with fighting of all descriptions."

"Muscle doesn't count for so much now as it used to, does it?" "No, my boy. Physical prowess does not rank as high as mental ability in the world today."

The boy again relapsed into thought for a few minutes, apparently pondering his father's words. "Then of course you're all for peace now," he finally said. "Of course. Perfect peace is the ideal for which we strive now."

"And we should strive for that ideal in private as well as in public affairs, shouldn't we?" "Always."

"That's what I thought," said the boy reflectively. "Don't you think that we have a good opportunity to apply it now?"

"In what way, my boy?" "Why, let's arbitrate the question of that licking that you are going to give me after dinner. Everybody arbitrates now."

It was arbitrated.—Chicago Post.

Two Full Moons in a Month.

The occurrence of two full moons in last December excited considerable interest, and with many the query is, When will there be two full moons in one month again? It is not infrequent for two like phases of the moon to occur in one month, as there are only 29 1/2 days in the lunar month—from one phase of the moon to the like phase again. There were two first quarter moons in May, 1895; two full moons in December, 1895, and there will be two last quarter moons in August, 1896; two new moons in May, 1897; two first quarter moons in November, 1897, and two full moons again in August, 1898.—Springfield (Mass.) THE COLUMBIAS WIN

AND CONTESTING POLO TEAMS NOW
HAVE A GAME APPEAL.The Second Contest of the Series Between Local Clubs Takes Place Thursday
Evening—A Small Attendance Out—The Plays and Players.

The second of the series of People's Columbia polo games was played at the People's rink Thursday night, but only a small crowd turned out to witness the tug of war. It was a tug of war, too, but the good playing that was put up by both teams at the first game was lacking to some extent, still there were some fine passes made and some very hard hitting as well.

It was 8:30 o'clock when Tom Gray blew the whistle and called the teams to the floor. The ball was put on the scratch and away both teams went. For two minutes the ball was knocked about the floor, and once or twice got uncomfortably close to Lou Allen, who, but Al Cull finally got a whack at it and sent it spinning into the Columbia goal. This was pleasing and the People's friends cheered, while backers of the Columbias looked glum.

Again the whistle sounded and hard playing was commenced. The red sphere was sent from side to side of the rink, good stops were made and some lamentably poor plays, but everything is to be taken into consideration in polo, and after one minute and forty-five seconds of this kind of work Tracy Allen got the ball and landed a goal for the Columbias. The Columbias won the next goal, Allen driving it in a hot chase of one minute and twenty-five seconds. The fourth goal was a scramble from beginning to end, and it took over five minutes before Allen could get the ball and drive it past Lou Allen's red stockings and safe into the People's cage.

Fred Lutz here got himself together and begged for some of the honors of the game. The Columbias had honors to give away and asked Lutz to help himself; he did so and when the whistle sounded he dallied with the ball for a few seconds, passed it up and at the end of forty-seven seconds put it in the cage amid the shouts of the audience. So well did he enjoy it that he handed up his plate the second time. He drove the next goal in about twenty-seven seconds.

James Deatty pulled himself together and tucked up his gray trousers while the rushers waited for the whistle. When the whistle blew Jim was after the ball, but it was thirty-five seconds before he found it, but when he did he hit it such a whack that it nestled down in one corner of the People's cage dazed and bewildered.

That was six scores that had been piled up by the Columbia team, and the People's players were tired of that class of fun and asked for some of the gravy for their own bread. At the sound of the whistle for the eighth goal they went at it, but it took one minute and twenty seconds before Campbell succeeded in driving a goal for the People's team.

At the close of the first half Campbell left the floor and Chas. Mock took his place. Mock went after the ball at the sound of the whistle and he and Lutz came together, but Mock got the ball back and in thirty-five seconds landed a score for the People's. The next goal was a repetition of the first, only it took four minutes and fifteen seconds to win, and Mock again drove the goal.

The next goal was short and decisive, but was played for all that was in it, and Deatty drove the goal in thirty-seven seconds. The Columbias also drove the next goal, Allen getting the ball after one minute and fifty seconds' play.

The last goal was one to be remembered. It took four minutes and fifty seconds to play it out and it was fought tooth and nail through the entire time. Jack Gray finally made a lunge at the ball and sent it home, making the score eight to five in favor of the Columbias.

SCHOOL DISMISSED

Because the Teacher Was Hit With a Snowball.

WALDO, Feb. 7.—While engaged in snowballing during school recess here yesterday morning, Hoke Donihant, 10, teacher, was hit in the eye with a hard snowball thrown by Jack Selanders. The optic at once swelled shut and both the eye and the nose bled profusely. The injury was so serious that it was necessary to dismiss the school for the remainder of the week at least. The injury was purely accidental or unintentional on the part of young Selanders. Daniel Augustine's condition is improving. Milo Francis is also on the way to recovery.

In 1889 and again in 1890 he returned to the Fatherland and made short visits. Mr. Schweinfurth did not celebrate the occasion, but simply looked pleased and shook hands with his friends. George says America is good enough for him, and he does not care to return to Germany except to see the sights of his boyhood home at Weisloch, Baden, Germany.

ROYAL Baking Powder.
Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report.

THE SECOND NIGHT

THE ATTENDANCE AT THE EPWORTH M. E. CHURCH INCREASED.

The Greatest Interest Being Taken in the Union Meeting—Twenty Forward Last Night Who Wished To Know God—Be Present Tonight.

The Epworth M. E. church was crowded, Thursday night, a larger attendance being present, if possible, than the night before.

After the opening hymn Mr. Miller sang "The Sword of the Lord and of Gideon," following which there was a testimony service and many spoke of the blessings which the Lord had brought to them.

Mr. Miller having rendered a second selection, "Oh the Joy that There Await Me," which was as pathetic as it was perfectly rendered. Mr. Potter announced his text as being taken from H. 'revels 7: 25—"Wherefore He is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by Him, seeing He ever liveth to make intercession for them."

Mr. Potter's introductory thought was that during all the preceding chapters the Hebrew writer had just been leading up to the statement of the text of Christ's power and willingness to save, and that was the doctrine of the text.

He said he would make four divisions or classifications of Christ's power to save. First, Christ's power to save men, secondly, Christ's power over demons to cast them out; thirdly, Christ's power over nature to control it; and fourthly, Christ's power over death to destroy it. He would use it all three, he said, to illustrate the first.

Mr. Potter's illustration of Christ's power over men to save them, was the conversion of Saul of Tarsus. His illustration of Christ's power over demons to cast them out was strikingly forceful.

"Every man," he said, "that isn't a Christian is controlled by a satanic power for to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants you are whom you obey, whether of sin unto death or of obedience unto righteousness." His illustration of that was the casting out of the demons of the man of Gadara.

In illustration of Christ's power over nature he spoke of Christ's stilling of the tempest and went on and told the story how, when Christ, having spent the night in prayer, was sleeping in the ship, a great storm arose and the disciples were in fear lest they be drowned and how they awakened Him and He said "Peace, be still," and the waters subsided. Said Mr. Potter, "hasn't He power then to calm the waves of trouble in your heart?"

The speaker used two illustrations of Christ's power over death to destroy it, one being His power to raise the dead and the other His own resurrection.

His description of Christ's resurrection was very striking and his appeal was what are you going to do with this Jesus? He then invited those who wished to become Christians to come up to the front seats and about twenty responded.

One of the most striking features of the sermon was the recital by Mr. Potter of an incident which occurred under his personal observation, and which was more in the nature of a miracle than anything else.

As he related it, he was holding a meeting in Chicago one night about six weeks after the incident occurred. A giant boom set in, when a drunken, wild-eyed man came staggering up the aisle, and coming well forward took a seat in the front part of the church. The man naturally had large eyes which, being bloodshot and wild, gave him a most forbidding appearance.

In his drunk a mess he yelled "If there is a God, I want Him." This he kept repeating until the entire attention of the congregation was upon him.

Mr. Potter came down to where the man was sitting and told him he must believe in Christ. The man said he didn't believe in Christ. Taking him by the hand Mr. Potter told him no matter what he had believed in the past to believe in Christ now, and asked him to pray. The drunken man was a mass of nerves, just across the line from delirium tremens, but he yelled out "I'll do it. Dan Fry is going to pray," and dropping on his knees placed his hand on his heart, and raising his eyes in supplication prayed "God bless Dan Fry."

"A smile flashed across his face," he said "I've got it, in ecstasy he arose a sober man—and the people present that night had beheld a miracle."

"Dan Fry joined the church, married one of the sweetest young ladies in it and today is a prosperous citizen of Cincinnati, beloved and respected by all his friends and associates."

Tonight's services will begin at 7:30 as usual, and afternoon meetings will be held regularly until further notice.

WANTS BIG DAMAGES

EMANUEL F. WISE SUES DR. W. S. STONE OF CALEDONIA

The Plaintiff Files a Petition in the Court of Common Pleas for Five Thousand Dollars Damages for the Loss of an Arm.

Emmanuel F. Wise by his attorneys D. L. Crisinger and H. N. Quigley today filed in the court of common pleas a petition against W. S. Stone.

The plaintiff sets up the fact that he was wounded Dec. 3, 1895 by the accidental discharge of a gun the shot taking effect in the fleshy part of his forearm and that the defendant a practicing physician and surgeon undertook faithfully skillful and diligently to treat care for cure and heal the arm from the effect of the wound mentioned.

The plaintiff says that to the contrary the defendant conducted himself in and about the treatment of the arm so unskillfully negligently and unprofessionally that by reason of the improper treatment the gunshot wound was not cut open to remove the shot and other foreign substances were not removed as they should have been but were permitted to remain in the wound until the wound festered and gangrene and blood poison set in and it became impossible to cure and heal the arm.

The petition states further that to save the life of the plaintiff the arm had to be amputated and that the only treatment that he could see that the defendant gave in care of the wound was placing the arm in a flax seed poultice and that the wound was not opened or kept open by the defendant.

The arm the plaintiff says was amputated Dec. 8, 1895 by reason of the improper treatment of the defendant and that he suffered great bodily pain and mental anguish as well as the loss of his arm wherefore he claims damages in the sum of $5000.

The defendant is a practicing physician at Caledonia.

Absolutely the Lowest Prices, Always.

EVERY day thus far in 1896 our sales have been handsomely in excess of the corresponding time in 1895 or that of any other year in the history of this business. Never have our great January sales received such satisfactory patronage, never has there distribution of goods been anywhere nearly as large as during the month just past. We believe that the above results have been made possible because the enormous purchasing public is recognizing more substantially the full truth of our frequently repeated statement, viz: "Our Prices are Absolutely the Lowest." We can afford to make no mistake upon this point.

Again our great stocks are conspicuously the largest and best assorted in Marion, and in this period of gross exaggeration in newspaper advertising, when nearly every published statement is intended by its writer to be liberally discounted, we insist even more positively than ever that our advertising shall be free from every word or sentence which can mislead, and that we insist even more positively than ever that our advertising shall be free from every word or sentence which can mislead, and that "Our Advertisements Can Be Thoroughly Depended Upon in Every Particular."

Pillow Cases AND Sheets!

You get them ready-made for a little less than the muslin would cost by the yard, because manufacturers figure differently from retailers. With the maker the muslins are bought in great quantities and are counted just as the carpenter counts his lumber—something to make a living from through working it. The profit is in the work not in the stuff. With retailers, the living comes through selling products. If we buy products from people who skip adding profits we save you money. That saving has fully paid for making up the sheets and pillow cases.
